Dated: 22.06.2020

CIRCULAR

It has been observed that the instructions/observations conveyed by the senior officials even in writing are sometimes not complied with. This tendency is mostly found among the persons, who are due for superannuation in near future or likely to be transferred from the existing position.

This is a very serious negligence sometimes resulting into irreparable loss to the company. It is, therefore, directed that in future if anybody violates or ignores compliance of such important instructions, he will be liable for suitable action against such non compliance in an appropriate manner.
